London, June 19.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir Michael Hicks-Boach, Colonial Secretary, replying to a question by Mr. John Bright concerning the deputation said to be coming from Causda to sak the government for a loan or a guarantee for the purpose of constructing the Pacific Railway, said that all be know about it was the resolution of the Canadian Parliament respecting the Pacific Railway. The deputation, he said, was certainly not coming in consequence of any communication on the subject between the two governments.

GERMANY AND THE DOUBLE STANDARD. Bennin, June 19.—In the Reichstag to-day Herr Delbruck presented and filed an inter-pellation in regard to the government dis-continuing the colonge of silver. He said it was necessary to clearly define the situation, and particularly as in the debates of the Britfish Parliament the question whether Ger-many intended to modify the law flying upon a gold standard had been treated as an open Prince Bismarck replied that he did not know the views of the Federal governments, but he himself did not think it expedient unnecessarily to commit himself to an expression of opinion upon a question of such moment. He thought the interpellation had not been well considered, but, treating the matter from a business point of view, he could assure the House that neither the Federal Council nor the Prussian Ministry. of view, he could assure the House that neither the Federal Council nor the Prussian Ministry had mooted the question of a modification of the gold standard. The law of the suspension of the silver sales was a measure of expedi-ency adopted pending an increase of value. Any doubt respecting the stability of German colunge legislation was wholly unwarranted. He had never discussed the question with the Minister of Finance. VALLEY FORGE.

Dedication of Washington's Headquarters VALLEY FORGE, PA., June 19 .- Great proparations were made for the celebration of the 101st anniversary of the evacuation of Valley Forge by Washington and his army. The chief feature of the day's colubration was the dedication of the Washington headquarters and the relaying of its corner-stone by the Masonic fraternity. At sunrise a salute was fired by Griffen Battery, of Phonlaville, encamped on the grounds. The village was gay with bunting and thronged with people. Excursion trains were run from Philadelphia, Reading, and other neighboring cities, and each incoming train brought large crowds of people. The ceremonies were opened in the presence of about 6,000 people by a salute from the Griffen Battery. The Valley Forge Centennial and Memorial Association, with the Contonnial and Memorial Association, with the Grand Lodge of F. and A. M. of Pennsylvania, in full regalia, then assembled and marched in procession to the site of the building. After impressive coremonies, Michael Nesbit, Grand Master of the Masons of Pennsylvania, laid the corner-stone with the usual formalitaid the corner-stone with the usual formali-ties. After the laying of the stone Handel's grand "Hallelejah" chorus was given by the singing secteties, and the oration for the occa-sion was delivered by ex-Governor Pollock. The weather throughout the day was favor-able for the out-door ceremonies and the mili-tary display was a fine one. During the afterneon there was a rifle contest, participated in by teams from Philadelphia, Norristown, West-by teams from Philadelphia, Norristown, Westchester, and Pottaville.

The day's coromonies closed with a recoption at the headquarters by the lady regents, which was well attended. The Washington headquarters, consisting of a mansion occupied by Washington during the winter of 1777-78, together with between two and three acres of land, have been purchased by the Valley Forge Association, and will horeafter be maintained as a memorial park.

At 2:10 the prisoner appeared, leaning on the arm of the sheriff, and took her seat facing the judge's bench, Messrs. Purnell and Barnes, of her counsel, and Townsend, for the State being present. At 2:45 o'clock Judge Wilson asked counsel for the prisoner if she had anything to say why soutence should not be pronunced against her, to which there was a negative roply.

Judge Wilson then addressed the prisoner, saying:

saying:

Lillian Duer, you have been tried by a jury of true and honest men for one of the most heinous offenses known to the law, and they have found you guilty of manslaughter. In view of the fact that there is no stain upon your previous life, the jury has recommended you to the mercy of the court, and the court is glad of it. The law permits imprisonment to the neutrentiary or the common sail, or a maximum fine of $598. The court will not sentence you to imprisonment, but as the offense was of so grave character the court will impose the highest fine which the law provides. The court therefore sentences you to pay a fine of $500, and to stand committed until the fine is paid.

A CHANGE OF LAW NEEDED.

something That Should Be Done at Once. Mr. J. J. Sutton, a merchant of Hot Springs, Ark., has been here for some time, endeavoring to obtain a change in the law disposing of the Hot Springs reservation. Yesterday a REPUB-LICAN reporter met him and obtained the folowing statements:

Reporter-Mr. Sutton, what was the object of your visit here, and whom do you represent? Mr. Sutton-I am one of an executive comnittee selected by several hundred settlers on the Hot Springs reservation, and H also represout the 700 signers of the petition now before Congress.

Reporter-What is it you complain of, the law or the manuer of its execution? Mr. Sutton-The law itself is wrong. It was

Mr. Sutton—It gives the commissioners power to widen and straighten the old streets, and to make now streets, authorizing them to condemn any buildings that may be in the condemn any bu ness streets has been made within the last few weeks, and, to the surprise of every one, it takes about three-fourths of the business houses, half about three-fourths of the business houses, half a dozen hotels, and several bath-houses, while the new streets will take many residences. The result is that numbers of people will be absolutely ruined, their homes and places of business gone, and hu their stead a piece of almost worthless paper. These certificates will be bought up by speculators at a nominal price, and then Congress will be asked to pay them. In the meantime numbers will be left homeless, the accommodations for visitors will be largely reduced, and, as a consequence, the prices raised. One of the buildings taken by the survey is the Grand Central, one of the largest and finest hotels in the place. It cost over $35,000 and the farniture $10,000 more. The proprietor can find no place in the town even to store his furniture, let alone to use it. He is only one of many that will be thus treated. oven to store his furniture, letalone to use it. He is only one of many that will be thus treated. When the town of Hot Springs was partially destroyed by fire, little more than a year ago, thousands of dollars were sent there—some of it by members of Congress—to aid the sufferers, who had lost their all and been made homeless. The result of the present survey, with no change in the law, will be to make more destitution and suffering than the fire did.

Mr. Sutton—The resident population is about 4,500, and there are nearly 900 voters. Ninetentis of them are in favor of the changes in the law, I am endeavering to obtain and of any insthed that will secure these changes?

Reporter—Who opposes these changes?

Mr. Sutton—Only the few who are benefited by the law as it now is and those whem they can control. They expect to obtain most of the valuable land at a nominal price and to monopolize the hot water. Of course they oppose any change or examination.

court therefore sentences you to pay a line of $500, and to stand committed until the line of $500, and to stand committed until the line of $500, and to stand committed until the line of $500, and to stand committed until the line of $500, and to stand committed until the line of $500, and the stand committed until the line of $500, and the stand committee, and the whole subject will never a understood until an unprojudiced committee of Congress goes there and sees what is wanted. We should by all means have a national hospital there, as is provided in the Urner bill. The lands to be sold on the reservation should be so apportioned that each settle sheriff took charge of the prisoner, but she was not taken to prison. Her friends will at once pay the fine, when she will be discharged.

One of the larger after the year and beautify the est bidder. The money received for this land should be used to improve and beautify the new reservation on which the springs are situated, making it a public park and strictly reserving the waters, which are priceless.

Reporter—How long have you resided in Hot Springs?

Mr. Sutton—I have flyed in Arkansas since 1862, and at Hot Springs since May, 1874.

Reporter—You have said that this is a national question. Why is this so?

Mr. Sutton—For two reasons. First, because the Supreme Court decided that the reservation belonged to the United States; accoud, because balonged to the United States; second, because in every State in the Union there are people who suffer from diseases that these Hot Springs alone can cure, and hundreds come from every State. For that reason every Representative in Congress and every Senator is as much inter ested in the proper disposal of that reservation, and especially in the preservation of the and especially in the preservation of the waters, as are the Representatives or the people of Arkansas. Of course there is a local question involved in which the people of Hot Springs are interested, and even they are mostly invalids from other States, who went there to recover their health and have remained there. As one of them, and as their representative here, I want even-handed jusrepresentative here, I want even handed jus-tice dealt out to them. But above and beyond all mere personal considerations is the one grand national one of preserving the waters of the springs in all their purity. I believe that they, as well as the rights of individuals, are ondangered, and for that reason I am asking for a committee from Congress to visit us. I

In this mannor they depopulated the farm, destroyed a costly residence, and threatened the life of the owner, from no other motive than to gratify a cowardly autimosity that they have not the moral courage to assert in open daylight.

The Democratic Death-Warrant.

The Democratic Death-Warrant.
[Indianapolis News (Ind.)]
The Democrats in Congress are acting like the herd of swine the evil spirits entered. They are rushing headlong to their destruction. If their last revised and improved programme as announced isn't their political death-warrant, it will be from no lack of stupidity on the part of its prototors. The President should veto this folly in italies. There is no right in this Government for any of its branches to stop the progress of the tovernment. Congress is obliged to perform its duty whether it wants to or not.
